

Mrs. Sims' Kindergarten Class

Week in Review

September 2nd, 2016

What We're Learning

Language Arts:

- Recognizing letters, and producing their sounds
- Segmenting words into syllables
- Recognizing the beginning sound of a word
- Using pictures to illustrate our thoughts and ideas, and beginning to add labels to our pictures
- Handwriting-Aa and Tt

Math:

- Writing numbers 0-5
- Counting to 20 by ones, and counting up to 20 from a given number (ex. 14-20)
- Counting up to 10 objects and explaining how we counted-move and count, touch each one, counting on
- Identifying the penny and nickel

Science:

- My 5 Senses
  - Identifying all 5 senses
  - Observing and describing things we see, feel, smell, hear, and taste

Notes from the Teacher

Dear Parents,

This has been a very busy but fun filled week in our classroom. We learned to use our classroom tablets, explored the many ways we use our five senses, and began learning to write our letters.

I hope that everyone was able to look over our new homework choice boards. I have already seen some amazing work from students, and it has only been one day! Please remember that these boards are optional, and do not ever feel pressured to get it finished if you have a busy night or week. Your students work so hard during the day, and it is important to me that they have ample opportunity to enjoy being children.

Finally, I would like to remind everyone about our curriculum night which will take place next Thursday, September 8th, at 6:00pm. I would love to have everyone in attendance as we will share a great deal of information. Parents who attend will also be entered to win a door prize! Thank you for your support,
Jessica Sims and Kaitlyn Hall
